

You can't see it, but water is always moving in the air to form clouds. Then it falls back down as rain or snow.

Water can be ice, vapor, or liquid. Can you find each kind?

