Portage County Comprehensive Plan: Public Participation Plan

Introduction

The concept of citizens participating in government decision-making is fundamental to our system of governance. While it is true that our government officials are elected to represent citizens, it is also true that elected officials need to inform, be informed by, and interact with the public on an ongoing basis if their representation is to be meaningful. Regular and continuing involvement in government decision-making is the very basis for the idea of citizenship. Citizen participation is likely to produce better decisions by utilizing the knowledge of the populace and by allocating part of the responsibility for formulating and implementing decisions to the citizens. Without citizen participation, governments become less “governments for the people and by the people,” and more “service providers” for “taxpayers.”

The Portage County Comprehensive Planning process is committed to providing broad-based and continuous opportunities for public participation throughout the planning process. The process is designed to be responsive to citizen participants, is committed to utilizing the knowledge and understanding of citizens to address important issues, and offers multiple opportunities for engagement – at varying levels of involvement. The purpose of this Public Participation Plan is to define how the public will be involved throughout the entire comprehensive planning effort.

Wisconsin’s new Smart Growth and Comprehensive Planning law requires public participation throughout the comprehensive planning process.

Wisconsin Statutes, Section 66.1001(4)(a)...

“The governing body of a local governmental unit shall adopt written procedures that are designed to foster public participation, including open discussion, communication programs, information services, and public meetings for which advance notice has been provided, in every stage of the preparation of a comprehensive plan. The written procedures shall provide for a wide distribution of proposed, alternative, or amended elements of a comprehensive plan and shall provide an opportunity for written comments on the plan to be submitted by members of the public to the governing body and for the governing body to respond to such written comments.”

In order to be responsive to the new law, Portage County’s public participation process will: require planning committees to adopt the written public participation guidelines contained within this document to provide for meaningful input into the process; utilize a variety of public forums to garner input on a broad range of planning issues; provide for wide distribution of plan-related proposals and reports (through mail, world wide web, community exhibits and displays, etc.) to foster public dialogue and interaction; and develop formal mechanisms for the public to ask questions of the planning committees and for the planning committees to respond to those questions.

In addition, the public participation process will utilize a variety of methods to involve citizens at differing levels – from passive to active.

- Public awareness will be increased through the use of direct mail, news releases and mass media; displays and exhibits will be used as well to build awareness of the comprehensive planning process and opportunities to participate.
- Public education will provide citizens with balanced and objective information to assist them in understanding issues and alternatives for addressing them. Public meetings will be held as one approach to providing education.
- Public input is an important part of participatory efforts. Public feedback through surveys, focus groups, open houses, and public meetings will be critical in assessing needs and providing input on alternatives developed to address them.
- Public interaction provides a higher level of participation. Through community visioning processes, public concerns and issues are directly reflected in the alternatives developed to address them, and feedback is given on how the input affected decision-making.
- Public Partnership is the highest level of participation. Decision making authority is placed in the hands of the urban and rural planning committees, with the promise to work to implement their decisions.

Public Participation in the Comprehensive Planning Approach

Portage County proposes to use an eight-step approach to the comprehensive planning process. What follows is a discussion of public participation at each step in the comprehensive planning approach (a graphic illustration of the comprehensive planning and citizen participation approaches is attached to this document).

Step 1: Committee Formation and Initial Meetings

In this step, urban and rural planning committees are formed. This represents the beginning of Public Partnership as described above. Public education also begins in Step 1. Educational efforts will focus attention on the comprehensive planning process, with the objective of improving public awareness surrounding the project. Newsletters, news media, a comprehensive planning website, and public meetings will be used to make the public more aware of the planning effort.

Step 2: Plan for Planning

Building Public awareness and public education will be the major objectives of participatory efforts in this step. Awareness will continue to be built through the use of media outlets, such as local newspapers, radio stations, and television. Presentations will be made to community and local government groups. Information will be made available through the comprehensive planning website and through written fact sheets and newsletters that will be made available to the public at county and local government offices, local libraries, and the comprehensive planning website.

Public education efforts will focus attention on the planning process and opportunities for public involvement. Awareness efforts described above will also provide some education.

Public input will be solicited through an interactive question and answer function on the website, as well as through more traditional means of communicating (phone, mail, etc.). Planning committees and staff will develop a system to respond to the questions submitted by the public.

Public partnership efforts continue with the convening of the urban and rural planning committees. This group of individuals will meet together to develop and adopt a public participation plan.

Step 3: Background Information and Inventory: Trends Assessment

Step 3 provides for the collection and analysis of data related to growth and change in the community, and looks at projections into the future.

Public awareness related to the inventory and assessment is critical to the understanding of community issues. In that regard, the public will be kept informed through a variety of media, as well as printed materials developed by the planning team. Presentations will be made at community and local government meetings. Materials developed will be made available to the public at county and local government offices, local libraries, and the comprehensive planning website.

Public education will take the form of public meetings related to the discussion of information developed throughout this step. Fact sheets will be developed for distribution to the public at county and local government offices, local libraries, and the comprehensive planning website.

Public input will be accepted in a number of ways. Opportunities for interactive questions and answers will be made available through the comprehensive planning website, as well as through traditional means of communication (phone, mail, etc.). Public comment will be solicited regarding the inventory, assessment, and trends information, which will be compiled in a Background Analysis Report. The Background Analysis Report will be made available for public review and comment at county and local government offices, local libraries, and the comprehensive planning website.

Public partnership is advanced as the urban and rural committees continue to meet and adopt the Background Analysis Report.

Step 4: Issue Identification and Visioning

Step 4 is the most public participation intensive in the comprehensive planning approach. It is at this point in the process that citizens identify key community issues and develop a vision of what their community should look like in 20 years.

As in the first three steps, public awareness efforts will focus on the utilization of the media, community meetings, printed materials, and the comprehensive planning website to inform people of opportunities to participate in this step. Materials developed will be made available to the public at county and local government offices, local libraries, and the comprehensive planning website.

Public education will continue through the use of public meetings and fact sheets developed for this step in the process.

Public input will be gathered in a number of ways. Opportunities for interactive questions and answers will be made available through the comprehensive planning website, as well as through traditional means of communication (phone, mail, etc.). Opinion surveys will be conducted to identify community issues. These surveys will include a mail survey to all residents, as well as property owners, in the county, and a photographic survey to assess visual preferences for different types of land uses and development (likely to be completed by urban and rural committee members). Invited experts will address the planning committees regarding a number of critical community issues. Focus groups will be convened to further detail issues identified through the opinion surveys and by invited experts. Citizens will also be asked to provide input on draft vision statements that are developed following interactive events described below. A summary Issue Identification Report will be made available for public review and comment at county and local government offices, local libraries, and the comprehensive planning website.

Public interaction will take place through community visioning sessions that take place throughout the county. Participants will be asked to describe their hopes and concerns about the future of their community, and more broadly, Portage County. Community mapping exercises will be used to develop graphic visions to be used along with narrative comments collected. The Draft and Final Vision Statement documents will be made available for public review and comment at county and local government offices, local libraries, and the comprehensive planning website.

Public Partnership efforts continue as the urban and rural committees meet jointly through this step. The large group will adopt an Issues Identification Report and will draft and adopt a vision statement for the county as a whole. The two committees will then continue their work separately, and will adopt vision statements and establish development goals and policies for the urban and rural areas, using the county vision as a guide.

Step 5: Strategy Formulation and Draft Comprehensive Plans

In this step, alternative strategies are developed to address the issues identified in Step 4 and to move toward the vision established in that step as well.

Public awareness efforts will continue using media, printed materials, community presentations, and the comprehensive planning website. Materials developed will be made available to the public at county and local government offices, local libraries, and the comprehensive planning website.

A series of public educational sessions will be held to provide information and education surrounding strategy formulation.

In an effort to gather public input, countywide public sessions will be held to respond to alternative strategies that are developed. Opportunities for interactive questions and answers will be made available through the comprehensive planning website, as well as through traditional means of communication (phone, mail, etc.). Open houses will be utilized to gather information related to graphic and narrative strategies developed. This input will be utilized by the planning committees to assess preferred strategies to pursue in the development of the comprehensive planning documents.

Public partnership efforts are advanced as the planning committees work to develop alternative strategies with the assistance of planning staff. The planning committees will review public input regarding potential strategies and will select and adopt preferred strategies. The committees will draft comprehensive plans with staff assistance. The Draft Comprehensive Plans will be available for public review and comment at county and local government offices, local libraries, and the comprehensive planning website.

Step 6: Plan Review and Adoption

In this step, the planning committees, local units of government and citizens review the comprehensive plans.

Public awareness surrounding the review and adoption step will utilize a variety of media, printed materials, community presentations, and the comprehensive planning website.

Public education sessions will be held to improve understanding of the plan review and adoption step, as well as specifics of the plans.

Public input will be solicited regarding the comprehensive plans through open houses and other public events. Opportunities for interactive questions and answers will be made available through the comprehensive planning website as well as through traditional means of communication (phone, mail, etc.). Materials will be available for review and comment at county and local government offices, and at local libraries.

Public partnership efforts will be focused on the planning committees taking final action to approve the comprehensive plans and presenting the final comprehensive plan documents to local units of government and the County Board of Supervisors for their approval.

Step 7: Plan Implementation

The first stage of the comprehensive planning process is complete following the adoption of comprehensive plans in step 6. Grant funding for this project is provided through adoption of the comprehensive plan. Step 7 initiates implementation of the plan. This step focuses attention on updating all land related ordinances in the county to be consistent with the new comprehensive plans. As in preceding steps, public involvement in this process is critical, but will be more formally designed as comprehensive plans are adopted.

Step 8: Plan Monitoring, Reassessment and Amendment Procedures

As the plan is implemented, it is imperative to monitor and reassess the effectiveness of strategies that have been put into place. Effective strategies need to be maintained, while ineffective strategies need to be modified or terminated. An amendment process will be developed to address issues that develop with the plan, or changes that take place in the community that necessitate change in the documents. Public involvement in this process will be needed. A more formal process will be designed as comprehensive plans are adopted.
